TORONTO TIDINGS

The Deaf Club of this city held one of the most successful socials in its history on October 30th. It was a roaring walkover in every respect. An attendance of 260 was present, and the fun that pervaded was kept up until dawn. Over $176 was realized that evening. Every one present went home smiling.

LONG BRANCH LOCALS

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker on the arrival of a wee baby girl, to make it two in the family—both girls. The youngest was born on November 1st, and her name is now Marion Hazel Baker.

All the deaf here, took in the big social in Toronto, on November 8th. The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Bartley was one year old on October 25th last, and she ushered in the day by giving a party to 14 of her little playmates. It was fun to see the little tots at play.

HORNING MILLS HUMOR

Mr. Oscar Noakes, who works for Mr. Thomas A. Middleton, was down to his parental home, in Toronto, for a week at Thanksgiving time.

Mr. John Taylor, of Southampton, came down here on November 5th, to assist Mr. Thomas A. Middleton garner in his large turnip crop. He remained here over Thanksgiving and for several days afterwards. Jack is always a handy man in any emergency.

Mr. Victor Reading will soon be going back to his home in Toronto, as he has about completed his son's work for Mr. John Lasty on the farm.

On Sunday, November 7th, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Middleton and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Roberts, of Toronto, and Mr. John Taylor, of Southampton, went for a long motor ride, passing through Redickville and Honeywood. At the latter place lives Miss Martha Grainger, a former pupil at Belleville, who now lives with her parents, and is doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Roberts, of Toronto, accepted the invitation of Mrs. and Mrs. Thomas A. Middleton to come up and spend the Thanksgiving Day holidays with them. Mr. Roberts went back on Monday evening, but Mrs. Roberts remained for a week longer.

Mr. Thomas A. Middleton would like to hire a good strong industrious man on his farm for the winter and next season. Anyone wishing to obtain good steady work and a nice home should write him R. R. 3, Shelburne, Ont.

THE SUMMONS CAME

Who can withstand the inroads of the Great and Silent Reaper? He comes and snatches from us any one he chooses and at any time he pleases, and now it is our sad duty to chronicle the passing away of another good friend in the person of Mrs. W. G. Bell, who fell asleep in His outstretched arms on October 31st, in the Providence Hospital at Moose Jaw, from an attack of pneumonia after eight days' illness. The funeral was held on November 1st, and largely attended. The late Mrs. Bell was formerly Miss Mary V. Land, and was born in Windsor, Ont., nearly 58 years ago. Later on, her parents moved to Ohio, and after she had lost her hearing at the age of thirteen, she attended the Ohio State School for the Deaf at Columbus, and graduated at the age of twenty. In 1903 she was happily united in marriage to Mr. Wm. G. Bell, a teacher in the Flint School for the Deaf, and they made their home there for fifteen years. About twenty years ago they moved to Moose Jaw, Sask., where they prospered and made countless new friends, all of whom now greatly deplore her untimely end. Being of a versatile nature, with a kindly heart and a sunny smile, she was universally esteemed by everyone. She was a sufferer from a weak heart, which helped to hasten her end. Besides her devoted husband, she leaves two sisters in Buffalo, N. Y., to whom we extend deepest sympathy. Two years ago, by a

DETROIT.

Always speak well, not only of your neighbor and your country, but also of the city in which you live. A knocker never gets any where.

Those wishing a swell feed, snappy speeches and an all around good time, should head for Kalama-zoo, December 11th, and attend the fifteenth anniversary banquet by N. F. S. D., No. 34.

John Cordano, Box 262, St. Joseph, Mich., will reserve you as plate if your request is accompa-nied by $2 per.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Beach's son is attending a rural school at Cold-water for a while. A small school, with a good teacher, enables him to get more attention. At present about only half of all the children in Detroit can attend an all-day session, as schools are so crowded.

The prize masquerade ball of the Michigan Association of the Deaf is a thing of the past, but the memory lingers on.

The I. O. O. F. Temple, where it was held, was the most spacious with most reasonable rentage that has come our way in many moons.

Mrs. Grace Davis, Miss M. V. Sloane, Mrs. A. J. Eickhoff, Mr. J. Stewart and Mrs. Rhea Lloyd, acting as judges, awarded prizes to the following to the entire satisfaction of everybody. Judging so many is a hard job.

Emma Richer..... Roman Lady Leo Goldstick..... Roman Gentleman Atta Craig, hearing..... Fatima Buck Pelton, hearing..... Cowboy Leon La Porte..... Indian Chief Mannie Zucke, hearing.....

Eddie Payne..... Flapper Bertha Fogel..... Gypsy

The lucky children were:- Robert Goth..... Felix Grace Brater..... Gretchen

Mr. Heymans was able to be there. The JOURNAL, with its advertisements, was very neat and distributed to all. Over $250 was cleared to help the good work of M. A. D.

The music was good, and the floor was well filled with dancers. Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Kenney and her able assistants.

Quite a few out-of-town guests were present. Among them were Mr. John Nash, of Grand Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. M. Graff, of Kalama-zoo; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stewart, Mr. A. J. Eickhoff, Mrs. W. B. Snell, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Leach, of Flint.

Mr. Dan Curson, of River Rouge, held the lucky number and was given $10. A hearing gentleman won the $5. It was the twentieth time Mr. La Porte has won a prize for his Indian costume in less than three years. It has brought him nearly $200 in cash. He has attended many hearing masquerades. It proves our theory of last week.

The parents of Mr. Ralph Huhn, of Detroit, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on October 24th. Six children blessed their life, five of whom are living, and with their wives and six grandchil-dren were there, and presented them with $50 in gold.

Mrs. Ben Dahn attended some business in Belleville last week, and then spent a day with her brother in Ypsilanti.

St. John's Ephphatha Mission will hold their Christmas Festival on December seventeenth, not 7th—guess it was a slip of the pen.

Mrs. Clyde Beach is spending the week in Flint, to enjoy Thanksgiving with her mother and sister.

Mrs. William Phillips, of Lisle, has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. David Lennox, in Phelpston, during the past few weeks.

We regret to report that the beautiful and commodious barns belonging to the parents of Miss

Nellie Patrick, near Lindsay, were completely destroyed by fire a short time ago, along with a lot of the season's crop and implements. The loss is heavy, but the origin of the fire is unknown.

Down in Pembroke, Ont., live

three deaf brothers, known as Louis,

Albert and Milton Schneider, all graduates of the Belleville School.

Miss Maxine Sinnig, of Battle Creek, is visiting her father here, and called at the D. A. D.

Miss Nina Sundquist, of Bay City, has secured work for the present, and is living with her sister, Mrs. Ed. Dirren.

The bank where Miss Violet Colby is employed has moved to its new location on Washington Boulevard, near Grand River.

Ivan Heymans is again with us, and will return to work December 1st. The doctor will remove the bandage this week. Ivan is sure glad, and we rejoice with him.

The football team from the Michigan School for the Deaf played football with the Pontiac High School, November 20th, and took home a victory of 6 to 0.

Mr. David Goldman, of New York, was a caller here last week. Chicago was his next stop-off.

Mr. Henry Gottlieb has sold his home on Newport, and bought a four family flat out near Linwood.

Mrs. John Hellers called on Mrs. Lizzie Frederick, of Sturtevant Ave., and found her quite bad with rheumatism. She would be pleased to see more of her friends, since she is unable to get out.

THE PRE-SCHOOL CHILD'S MENTAL HEALTH

A Radio Talk in Los Angeles, Cal., July 7, 1925

ARNOLD GESELL, M. D.

[In the Western Hospital and Nurses' Review for September, 1925, the following article appeared. It offers practical value to all mothers and to mothers of deaf children, especially since they must wage a constant fight for normality. The application of the last two paragraphs alone would save many a deaf child from years of retardation.]

The body of the growing child should be our first concern, but from the beginning—from the time of birth, we must remember the child's mind, which is bound up in that body. Mind and body grow together, and from the very beginning of life we must protect the health of the child's mind.

Even an infant has a mind and it is a great mistake to think that education can wait until the child goes to school. Education begins at birth. The most important lessons which a child ever learns are those life lessons that he learns before he goes to school.

I have been asked to tell you about the psychological studies we are making, at Yale University, on the mental growth of the pre-school child. Since 1919, our clinic has been making an investigation of the mental development of the infant. This does not mean that infants are attending Yale University, but it is true that we have made psychological tests and observations on over 500 infants, ranging from one month to five years of age. We have studied these babies at 1, 4, 6, 9, 12 and 18 months, and 2, 3, 4 and 5 years.

To study the mind of the infant, you must study his actions. These actions tell you what kind of nervous system he has. These actions show his capacity, his habits, his interests.

We have taken hundreds of action photographs to show the normal characteristics of the young child at different ages. We have also taken a motion picture record to show the swiftness and richness of this early mental growth. That is the main reason why the child should acquire good habits from the very start.

I wish I could show you the motion picture by radio. Maybe some time it will be possible to see by radio-ether. The picture shows the mental progress of the infant:

At one month he can hold a little red block, but only if you press it in his hand.

At 4 months he can look for it. At 6 months he can reach for it.

At 9 months he can look for it when it falls out of sight.

At 12 months he can place it in a box.

At 18 months he can build a tower of 3 blocks.

At 3 years he can build a bridge of blocks.

He passed up through successive stages of development, each higher than the other. You see there are standards of mental growth as well as physical growth. You must protect his mental growth. It does not take care of itself.

How can you promote mental health?

By helping him to acquire independence and self-control.

At 2 years, for example, he should be able to feed himself with a spoon.

He should obey simple commands.

At 3 years he should be able to put on his shoes.

At 4 years, if not earlier, he should wash himself.

Young children should not be babied too long or too much. They should be treated with consideration, but not with excess indulgence. They rarely need severe discipline if they are brought up properly. Use praise more than punishment; sunshine more than scolding. Above all, do not fuss and surround the child with a nervous atmosphere; and in cases of doubt—let him alone.

Concentrate on a few essentials. 1. Regular, sensible habits of eating, sleeping, rest, toilet and play. The child should not be coaxed or indulged, or disciplined in these matters.

2. He should never be allowed to dominate by tantrums. Ignore the tantrums altogether or divert them.

3. Respect his fears, but educate them in the right direction.

4. Begin early to give him safety first habits about the street. You can train him in caution as early as the age of 2 or 3. Make him look in both directions. Give him so much practice in looking in both directions that it will become second nature.

I know a little girl in New Haven, 3 years old, who has been trained so that she will not even run into the street to get her ball when it has rolled over the curb. She has learned to beware of autos.

Now, if a 3-year-old youngster can acquire such a difficult and excellent habit, it must mean that we can do a great deal for mental training all along the line, even during the preschool period of childhood.

Mental health is largely a matter of healthy habits. The child must learn the alphabet of good conduct, before he ever goes to school.

Begin early and nip bad habits in the bud. That is the way to give him a healthy mind. The slogan "Get your child fit for school" is a good one. But it does not mean alone to get his body fit. His mind, too, must be made fit in the preschool years through healthy habits of everyday life.

AMONG other things looking to the welfare of the future, Thomas A. Edison has this to say, in the current issue of the Forum Magazine. It is part of an opinion given to Edward Marshall, in an interview. Mr. Edison visualizes the scientific city of the future as follows:

This city of the future, as foreseen by the noted inventor, time saving will be of prime importance, and traffic congestion will be solved by the mathematician, who will supplement the traffic policeman; crime will decrease before the advent of the scientific policeman, and taxes will become astonishingly low with government of cities by experts.

Noise in the city in the future, however, in the opinion of Mr. Edison, will increase rather than decrease, but the human being will become sufficiently deafened by nature so that his nerves will be able to withstand the increased din.

The loss of acute hearing foreseen by Mr. Edison will be a benefit, rather than handicap, to the city dweller, he believes. He points to his own almost total deafness, and says it has given him steady nerves, which even the greatest noise of the cities cannot jar.

There is much more of interest to the deaf, but the paragraphs quoted are of special concern. It must be noted that entire loss of hearing is not predicted, but only that important sense, in the opinion of Mr. Edison, is destined to be dulled. Will lip-reading or gestures, or both, be resorted to?

No smiles are now adorning my once effulgent phiz; the sheriff came this morning and took away my Liz; he took the choo-choo wagon that I have steered so long; I drink from sorrow's flagon a bitter draught and strong. For years I have cavorted along the Great White Way, while creditors exhorted and begged me for their pay. The butcher and the baker were always on my trail, the sordid undertaker insisted on some kale. In winter and in summer, across the vales and hills, the local man and the plumber were chasing me with bills. And oftentimes my pastor would read the riot act. "You're headed for disaster," he said, with splendid tact; "you blow your coin for rubber, for tires and gasoline, for patent jack or snubber, and this is base and mean; for all the time you're owing to every merchant's till, and everywhere you're going you're up against a bill. The man," observed the pastor, "who joyrides while in debt, has got a nerve that's vaster than has been charted yet." Ah, sad is my condition, since I am doomed to walk; the sullen-eyed mortician can chase me round a block. The butcher and the grocer, since I have lost my dray, are ever drawing closer—I cannot get away!—Walt Mason.

Gallaudet College

Florida Avenue again! Dr. Charles R. Ely, beloved chemistry professor and superintendent of Sunday School affairs, had a very narrow escape from injury when he was knocked down on Florida Avenue by a speeding car, driven by a negro. Dr. Ely was walking on one side of the Avenue, when this car came out of 12th Street, N. E., at a high rate of speed. In an attempt to turn the corner, the automobile careened out on the sidewalk, glancing by Dr. Ely from the rear, hitting a lamp-post and finally colliding with another car on the street. Dr. Ely was violently thrown some distance by, it is presumed, a fender. Luckily, indeed, no serious injuries were incurred by Dr. Ely, save a general bruising of the right side and several tears in his raincoat. It all happened too fast and in the rear for Dr. Ely to be able to give a complete account of the accident, but we know this much—the reckless negro's driving permit was revoked for an indefinite period of time, a very long one, we hope.

As usual, Dr. Percival Hall gave a fine, beneficial talk in Chapel Hall, Sunday evening, November 14th, in which he differentiated between childish and childlike qualities in full manhood. He declared that childlike qualities were to be prized and worthy of preservation throughout life, while childish things were to be counteracted only in infancy. Dr. Hall classified impatience, irritability, envy, and selfishness as childish tendencies, while faith, hope, simplicity, gentleness and clean-mindedness, were valuable childlike qualities that should never be discarded as we progress in years.

Last Monday, November 15th, seven score or so necks on Kendall Green were craned skywards to view the majestic spectacle of the huge dirigible, the Los Angeles, wending its way over the National Capital. After an half-hour or so of sailing over Washington, D. C., the mighty Zeppelin disappeared northwards to Lakehurst, N. J. The original intention was to proceed to Norfolk, Va., to be moored to a ship, but on account of their late arrival at Washington, D. C., it was decided not to risk a crash in the uncertain air currents of the Atlantic coast at night, so they "beat it" back to New Jersey. The Preps were thrilled to the core, and consequently sported quite a number of stiff necks the next day.

Saturday night, November 20th, the Senior Class gave a moving-picture program for the benefit of the Edward Miner Gallaudet Memorial Fund. A reel, taken about ten years ago, depicted, by means of signs, the decision of Edward Miner Gallaudet to step into the shoes of his noted father as an educator of the deaf. Professor H. D. Drake and Professor Frederick H. Hughes had the roles of Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet and E. M. Gallaudet, respectively, while Miss Ruth Knox (now Mrs. Vernon Birck) acted as Mrs. Sophia Gallaudet. It is entirely to their credit that this picture did full justice to the decision of young Edward Miner Gallaudet, which was to prove such a great boon to the interests of the deaf. As ill luck would have it, a bulb in the projecting machine broke. It was nearly half an hour before a new one could be brought from H Street. Meanwhile, several of us helped the Seniors out by reciting songs and the like. The Rev. H. C. Merrill, of the Diocese of New York, gave voice to his recollections of the reel taken of Edward Miner Gallaudet signing the first part of "The Lorna Doone Country." The first time Rev. Mr. Merrill saw the picture projected upon the silver screen was with Dr. Gallaudet at his side. Now when the selfsame reel is thrown on the screen, it makes him feel out of place, as Dr. Gallaudet is no longer there to enjoy it. Mr. Ridings, '29, set the audience rocking with mirth with his ex tempore rendition of "Ten Little Niggers." Mr. Peikoff, '29, told us a joke of two commercial travellers, which was new to us all. By this time, the projecting machine was in working order, and the audience settled down to enjoy its hearts' content Lon Chaney in "The Unholy Three." It is said that the net profit of this program was about thirty dollars. The Class of '27 is to be congratulated upon the success of their attempt to boost the Fund along.

RALLY IN FOURTH PERIOD WINS GAME FOR GALLAUDET

After chewing the shorter end of a 8-to-0 for three-quarters in front of a very small crowd in the Griffith Stadium, the Buff and Blue gridmen piled up three touchdowns in quick succession, to down the Blue Ridge aggregation, 19 to 8. The New Windsor collegians were taken completely by surprise and went down in bitter defeat, however supreme their efforts were to stem the mighty avalanche the Gallaudetians fashioned in the last quarter.

SEATTLE.

The Blue Ridge eleven was on the defensive most of the first period, playing in the shadow of their goal posts, but only once did Gallaudet seriously threaten. This was when the home team bucked the line up to Blue Ridge's 11 yard line. Dyer attempted a drop-kick for a field goal, but the ball failed to clear the bar by only a few inches.

In the second frame, the New Windsor eleven covered considerable yardage by means of an intensive aerial attack. They lost, however, this opportunity of making a touchdown, because of a 15-yard penalty. Soon after this they lost the ball on downs. Dyer fumbled a poor pass from center, but fell on the ball just within his goal line. Dyer tried to punt, but the line did not hold. P. Engel, end, fell on the ball for safety. This first half ended with the score standing at 2 to 0 in Blue Ridge's favor.

The third period was a black one for Gallaudet. Hughes, Blue Ridge quarterback, was a veritable whirling dervish, being everywhere at once, so it seemed. After tearing through Gallaudet's defense for many gains, he intercepted a forward pass, heaved by Gallaudet's quarterback, and dashed right through Gallaudet's territory for a 45-yard run for Blue Ridge's only touchdown. Captain Michaels tried to garner an extra point with a placement kick, which was blocked.

Hughes was forced out of the game with an injured leg. Byouk has been sent in, the second period and now he led the Buff and Blue to a glorious victory. He crashed through the line for substantial gains, not to say anything of his successful end runs. Zieske consistently tore through Blue Ridge's defense for many short but important gains. The period ended before anything could be done.

In the first part of the fourth quarter, Blue Ridge showed their teeth and marched down the field, but their advance was finally checked. After this, Blue Ridge was constantly on the defense.

Byouk, Zieske, and Dyer ran for about 25 yards each. A forward pass from Byouk to Captain Scarvie brought the Gallaudetians to the visitors' three yard line. Byouk hurtled his mass against the line for Gallaudet's touchdown of the evening. Dyer kicked the extra point.

With but five minutes to play, the Gallaudetians swept down the field, garnering two more touchdowns in quick succession, to score a decisive victory. After the Buff and Blue men had advanced to Blue Ridge's 25-yard line, Hokanson dashed around right end for another touchdown. Rose, the colorful veteran of many fierce gridiron battles, was sent in just in time to push over the goal-line for another six points. Disregarding a bad injury in the left ankle, he took the ball on two occasions. The first time he was given the ball he did not gain any ground on account of an error, but in the next try he smashed through for the game's last touchdown.

RESOLUTION.

WHEREAS, It hath pleased the Heavenly Father to receive into His nearer fellowship the soul of His faithful servant, JAMES HENRY CLOUD, M.A., D.D.; and,

WHEREAS, Dr. Cloud was a valued member of the Conference of the Deaf Clergy, and not only performed faithfully the stewardship entrusted to him, but also distinguished himself as an able educator, a wise administrator, and a courageous champion of the deaf in all matters which affected their general well-being, so that he was beloved of his friends and respected of all who knew him; therefore be it

Resolved, That we endeavor to record our sense of profound loss, humbly thanking Almighty God for the inspiration afforded us in the example of His servant's life; and be it further,

Resolved, That this resolution be inscribed upon the Minutes of the Conference; that a copy be given to his family as an expression of our sympathy; and that it be printed in appropriate publications.

THE X. E. S. MAKES GOOD

Three hundred and more deaf and hearing friends joined the Xavier Ephpheta Society in its Chinatown Revel Saturday evening, November 27th. To all intents and purposes they had a merry time. An eleventh hour incident caused a change in the meeting place from Xavier school hall to the less pretentious, but really more suitable Xavier Gymnasium.

Rev. Father Egan, S. J., suggested the change.

Mrs. Florence Gilligan supplied the music at the piano. In the Charleston competition, six or seven entrants competed. The only hearing entrant, rated an expert in the Charleston, was Eddie Russell, a grandson of the late James Russell, one of the pioneers of the Mission to the Deaf at St. Francis Xavier's. His nearest competitor, was a nifty, good-looking colored lad from St. Joseph's. In the dance-off, both literally burned up the gym floor. Judges Big John Stigliabotti and Little Paul Di Anno, for justice sake, were perforce, compelled to award first place to young Russell. But Eddie magnanimously handed over the prize to his dusky deaf competitor.

The mysterious ways of the Heathen Chinee had a bit to do with the overflow. We conscientiously leave the explanation to Tom Cosgrove and Big John.

Among the notables were "Senator" John O'Rourke, fresh from a Golden Gate trip, along with Harry P. Kane and the Silent Worker's humorous scribe, Henry Crutcher; Arthur L. Thomas was another carrying credentials of the R. P. Co.

Rev. Father Clark, president of St. Francis Xavier's, graced the event with his presence. Along with him were Father Egan and Deacon James McCoy.

Julius Kieckers once again proved his worth as director of arrangements. Aiding him with their best efforts, the credit goes to August Bernhardt and Lord Joseph Edwin.

A full house greeted the performers, in the Comic Vaudeville, at St. Ann's Church Guild room on Saturday evening, November 27th.

It began on time, but was quite a lengthy and varied program.

Following was the bill of the evening:-

The recent meeting of the American Society of Deaf Artists was unusually largely attended. Officers for the year were elected as follows: President, Charles W. Fetts; Secretary, Victor Anderson; Treasurer, Wm. Borgstrand, Miss Abrams was placed as a Trustee. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Borgstrand and the usual good eats were served by Mrs. Borgstrand and a fine frolic was held afterward, with Mr. Oberbeck up to some unusually jolly tricks, as were Mr. Borgstrand and others. Recently Miss Abrams received a commission to paint a Venetian Scene for a patron. She chose "The Grand Canal," and did a fine piece of work on a large canvas, about three feet by six feet. As an initial effort in large scale, detail and color technique, it was unusually good. She is receiving several fine orders for similar work, having gone outside her usual line of still-life and flitters. The has several canvases also being colored now.

Last week Mr. M. Schoenfeld received a very interesting letter from Mr. Lipgens, who is having a good time in Germany. He wishes to be remembered to his New York friends, especially the Deaf-Mutes' Union League of which he is a member. He also wants to thank the deaf-mutes for seeing him off for Europe.

The Knights and Ladies of De'Epee will have an inaugural dinner at the Hotel Laclede restaurant, 15th Street near Union Square, on the night of Sunday, January 8, 1927. Tickets are $1.50 each. They invite their friends to a good dinner and a jolly time in good company. The number of tickets are limited to 100. They can be obtained from the committee, of which James F. Donnelly is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Thomas J. Gillen, Mr. Edward Sherwood, and Miss Rose Quinn.

Christy Abbott, a big young man, who says he was educated at the Institution at Staunton, W. Va., and knows Mr. Seaton and Herdtfelder very well, was at St. Ann's Church on Sunday last in the afternoon, and in the evening at the Deaf-Mutes' Union League. He says he is a baker, looking for a job, and going straight.

Many friends of Mr. Julius Wollman, of East Northport, L. I., brother of Mr. C. H. Vetterlein will be surprised to hear that he has already sold his 75 acres of property, and is now residing in Rockville Centre, L. I., where he has bought a new home. He and his family are now living in there.

The Bronx Division, No. 92, N. F. S. D., will hold a "Quakertown Frolic," at H. A. D. Headquarters, 117 West 46th Street, on Saturday evening, December 11th. Admission, 50 cents.

Mr. Herbert Henriques, died on October 18th, in his 62d year. He leaves wife and three grown children. He was a pupil of Fanwood School and a first class cabinet maker and carpenter.

Five new members were accepted by the Society. The coming year marks its 20th anniversary, and the committees are on tip-toe with preparations for a banquet and all that goes with it. Mr. Alexander is said to be having an exhibition sale of his paintings this Spring.

On Thanksgiving Day, Mr. James W. Cail and his friends tried to attend the Paramount Theatre, but James was astonished to see a big surprise party. All had a lovely time at Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Graham's house, which was decorated for the Thanksgiving dinner.

Mr. Herbert Kieckers once again proved his worth as director of arrangements. Aiding him with their best efforts, the credit goes to August Bernhardt and Lord Joseph Edwin.

The Capital City.

Sunday, November 14th, was beautiful and warm. Rev. Mr. H. J. Pulver preached as usual and rendered a beautiful hymn on Page 7 of the hymnal. Mr. Thomas Woods, our new lay-reader, will take charge of services, Sunday morning of November 28th. All members are requested to attend. Mr. Woods was born in Alnwick, England; attended Mainabo School for the Deaf in Winnipeg, Canada; attended Gallaudet College in 1922—one term. His folks live in Vancouver, British Columbia.

St. Barnabas' Mission will have a social on Tuesday evening, December 7th. Our pastor, Rev. Mr. Pulver, will be present. All members and friends are cordially requested to attend.

Rev. Mr. A. D. Bryant preached on "The Services of Christ," at the evening services at the Baptist Mission.

Mr. Bryant is more than the ordinary artistic signer, with a very easy style of expression. He told how the music of the world is everlasting and vibrating. So wonderfully did the pastor explain word for word. Charles Shepherd rendered "Stand Up for Jesus," with ardent spirit.

Before the opening of the Mission services, Prof. H. Drake read about the life of Caleb of the Bible.

The attendance was large. The Baptist Mission has decided to secure regular dates for their socials this winter. The date of the coming social is November 30th, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to share an enjoyable time.

Under the auspices of the Washington Division, No. 46, N. F. S. D., a Supper and Social was held in the North East Masonic Temple, Saturday evening, November 13th. It was a very pleasing affair, and a success in every detail. The Division, No. 46, is to be thankful for having Miss Jennie Jones as chairman of the Social of the evening.

Supper was served from 6 to 8 o'clock. It consisted of rich old-fashioned sauer-kraut, meat, mashed potato, bread, butter and hot coffee. The hall was decorated with autumn leaves. Over one hundred deaf attended. Among the prominent deaf the writer noticed were Mrs. Percival Hall, Prof. and Mrs. H. Drake, Miss Nelson, Rev. Mr. Bryant and Mrs. Coleman.

A number of college students also attended. They were David Peikoff, '29, David Mudgett, '29, Peter Stewart, '28, Isadore Hurowitz, '30, Leslie Roberts, '30, Reuben Altiger, '30, and Henry Holter, '30.

It is evident that the visitors have keen thoughts for a good time, for a large number from Baltimore, Richmond and nearby towns attended.

Some of them were under the chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Feast. Among the visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Leitch and baby, Mrs. Stephens Sandebeck, Miss Elizabeth McHale, Miss Edna Hansen, Miss Barbara Fedler, O. K. Price and J. King.

After the supper, a program of innovation was given under the supervision of Miss Jennie Jones. After an address of welcome by Miss Jones, Miss Emma Cook recited "When Washington Division, No. 46, was born."

Miss Cook is pronounced as a beautiful deaf lady among the younger set in Washington. Then came Miss Nora Nanney, "The National Association of the Deaf." She signed in a clear and easy manner, which all enjoyed very much. Mrs. Quinley, wife of the president of the Division, No. 46, on "Aux-Frat." The last, but not least, Miss Anthony rendered "Live Life Today."

Mrs. P. R. Vernier interpreted for the hearing guests.

Then Fashion Show was given. What we should wear during day, from morning to evening, was demonstrated. It was very interesting. The jolly part of the show can hardly be explained clearly to the gentle readers of the JOURNAL.

Some talented dancers (hearing school pupils) were given and were appreciated by all.

One of the college students led the Gallaudet College yell and everyone joined in. David Peikoff, '29, gave a sound voice in behalf of the Gallaudet College athletics.

The rest of the evening was given over to dancing.

At the close of the entertainment, Mr. Souder acted as auctioneer—a 15-pound cooked ham was bid for and Miss Jones won it—$3.30.

The Division No. 46 Social will, no doubt, go down in history as one of the most harmonious affairs ever held in Washington, D.C. It proved that the committee had been working real hard in every detail.

It is a pleasure to inform friends that Mrs. Albert Adams who has been laid up for several weeks is again up and around. She was at the Division No. 46 Social, November 13th, with her daughter and a friend.

On November 11th, all deaf here joined the Nation in bowing in tribute to the dead.

Mrs. Roy Stewart's sister died in Nebraska recently. She was unable to attend the funeral in Nebraska, for her duty as sewing teacher at the Kendall School kept her here.

Mr. Lovette was seen at the Social of Division No. 46. Old friends were glad to see him. He is an ardent frat campaigner.

Jimmy Davidson spent a few days' visit with his father in Detroit last week. While there, they called on Miss Violet Colby, at the new bank. They also visited the D. A. D. headquarters. Jimmy returned home in time to attend the social of the Division No. 46.

Mr. William Boswell brought his charming wife back home in Washington, November 14th. She has been enjoying a pleasant visit with her relatives and friends in New York for about two months.

Miss Helen Milne, a young deaf lady of Massachusetts, is visiting in this city. She was taught by Mrs. Coolidge before the latter was First Lady.

The Floods now sport a fine new Dodge car. Mrs. Flood is a very capable driver.

We deeply sympathize with Mr.

and Mrs. W. Marshall on the death of the latter's beloved mother, who passed away Sunday morning, November 14th. She had been sick for some time.

The Silent Worker of November contains an interesting account of Chauncey H. Laughlin's rise in the poultry business. Many have inquired if he is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Laughlin (Etoile Estelle Dice), of Kansas City, Mo.

Those who resent criticism are driving with the brakes set.

A three-word success recipe: Preparation, perspiration, patience.

A deaf-mute named Austin is here from Los Angeles, where he had been for two years. He was educated at the Utah Institution at Ogden.

PHILADELPHIA

News items for this column should be sent to James Reider, 1538 North Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

After a lingering illness, James A. Parker, father of Mrs. William A. Salter, died on Tuesday, November 23d, at his daughter's home in Wissinomong, Philadelphia, aged seventy-eight years. His wife had preceded him in death six years ago.

Mr. Parker's home was in Leipsic, Delaware, where for a long time back he had served as sexton of a Methodist Church. Of four children, Mrs. Salter is the only one surviving and she proved a most dutiful daughter. When it was seen that her father's health was steadily declining, she had him come here to live with her, in which she was seconded by Mr. Salter. He came last September 4th, and so he hardly spent three months here before the end came.

His remains were neatly laid out and viewed by a number of deaf and neighbors on Thanksgiving Day evening. On Friday morning, the casket was shipped to Leipsic, Delaware, where the funeral was held on the edge on them most of the time, but we won by the "breaks." And I agree with Yost that the "breaks"

We extend most sincere sympathy to Mrs. Salter in her bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Salter's home number has been changed from 3513 to 4713 Howell St., Wissinomong, Phila. Friends of the family are asked to make the change.

A two-day bazaar will be held for the benefit of Beth Israel Association for the Deaf, on December 14th-15th, at the Beth Israel Temple, 32d and Montgomery Ave.

The Rev. Herbert C. Merrill and daughter, Miss Beatrice, stopped awhile with Mr. and Mrs. Reider on their way to Syracuse, on Wednesday, November 24th.

Mr. William C. Shepherd took the special excursion to Pittsburgh on November 21st, and reports a delightful trip.

Scarcely a month to Christmas. Eh!

The Gallaudet Club held a meeting at All Souls' rectory to arrange the details of its coming banquet on December 10th.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Pennell, of Oiney, a part of North Philadelphia, celebrated the thirty-first anniversary of their wedding at their home last Saturday evening, November 27th. The dining-room was tastefully decorated by Mrs. William Fries, a close friend of the couple, and friends presented the couple numerous pretty and useful gifts. A bounteous supply of refreshments were served the guests later in the evening and, altogether, a most pleasant evening was spent by all present.

Remembering that Burns' boys clearly outplayed the Bowen team, losing because of two fumbles, it appears that our little schools for the deaf, with 300 pupils, are the equal of the huge high schools with 3000 students. At least, in football,

P. S.—And don't forget little Gallaudet, with 148 students, has been beating colleges with 500 to 1500 students this Fall. This certainly is a great year for Silent-don!

Those who joined in the celebration were: Messrs. and Mesdames Thomas Wallwork, George A. Le Van, Henry Wisher, James Richards, Theo. Scudder, of Wilmington, Charles Yoder, Raymond Dachony, Mrs. Lizzie Fries, Misses Elizabeth Hubert, Eliza Thomson, Iva Du Gan, Florence March, Lizzie Korp, Master James Richards and Wright Garlick.

Mr. Howard Shepherd, son of Mr. William C. Shepherd, lost his wife by death on Sunday morning, November 28th. Only this meagre news was received by us.

Mr. Robert N. Stevenson, of Brooklyn, N. Y., came over to see his wife, who is staying here for a while, on Sunday, the 28th. He found that the climate here agrees nicely with his wife.

Only two more days for the Sesqui-centennial! The show seems to
